FINAL TRIBUTE PAID HARDING'S MEMORY IN NATION'S CAPITOL

Obsèques Were Held Under Vast Dome of Capitol—Simple in Dignity as Befitted the Man—Mrs. Harding Shows Stoic Courage—Favorite Hymn of Harding is Sung

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Under the vast dome of the capitol with low spoken prayer and the tender words of hymns, Warren G. Harding was given into God's keeping at noon today by the men of high place in the nation who had served with him in the short years of his leadership for the glory of the flag that was his winding sheet. As simple in its dignity and its high faith in the goodness of God as the man whose passing it marked, the religious ceremony took a bare 20 minutes. Then, under the ceaseless vigil of motionless sentries who stood at the corners of the bier, the great doors were opened for the waiting thousands outside to pass slowly by the casket on which the sorrow of the nation and the world poured out today.

Thru the brief service, a slender womanly figure sat erect and motionless beside the casket on its high base of honor. In deepest black and with heavy veil hiding her features, Mrs. Harding faced her public ordeal of sorrow with stoic courage. Never a break in the firm spirit that has borne her up thru the tragic days was visible to the pitying eyes that dwelt upon her.

When the last word had been said, she walked slowly out thru the senate corridor, her hand barely touching the arm of Secretary Christian, her slender figure straight, with no hint of the crushed heart within.

CHANCELLOR CUNO STATES GERMANY'S POSITION IN RUHR

Will Continue Passive Resistance to the Bitter End

(By the Associated Press)
BERLIN, Aug. 8.—Passive resistance will be continued with all the strength of the German people, "free from mad acts of violence and terror," and the people in the unoccupied territory will "support actively those in the occupied region," Chancellor Cuno asserted in addressing the reichstag when it convened for a short extraordinary session today.

When the chancellor arose to begin his long address he was prevented from speaking for some time by the communists who greeted him with epithets such as "traitor," "swindler" and "the president of the Stannex company board is going to speak."

One communist deputy got very excited, shook his fist at the chancellor and was called to order twice.

Herr Cuno was subjected to continual interruption during the speech which was received somewhat coldly by the public. "If there is no light on the horizon which promises us speedy help then it is for us to keep alive by means of our own iron determination," said the chancellor in his peroration, "and to make every sacrifice in this we must rely solely on our selves; we stand alone and must and will help ourselves."

Chancellor Cuno reviewed the internal and external situations and alluding to the British draft reply of the German note said that the principles upon which Great Britain based her proposals really were not pleasant for Germany.

Suggestions Impossible
There were many suggestions in the draft which appeared impossible to the German government so far as it was able to judge without knowledge of the supplementary documents, as the chancellor said, adding that in an endeavor to maintain good relations with her comrade-in-arms of yesterday, England had gone extraordinarily far in her concessions to the French standpoint.

Emphasizing the danger and the futility of conjectures pending the publication of the British documents the German chancellor said that the only thing certain was that there is no reason for any great hopes. Nevertheless, he added, the German government cannot abandon the belief that economic common sense and a sense of judgment will eventually prevail in foreign countries.

Alluding to France's demand for cessation of passive resistance before she is willing to open negotiations or say what she wants, the chancellor emphatically declared that it was impossible to ask the people of the Ruhr and the Rhineland to abandon their sole weapon unconditionally.

Refuse to Work Under Bayonets
"We refuse to work under the bayonets of our oppressors," he said. "With complete and unconditional submission to the French demands we should merely be buying a document which imposes upon us impossible obligations which the whole world recognizes as absurd."

"The Ruhr is only to be freed when the last penny is paid. We are to make impossible payments when the most vital instrument of the relaxation of such payments, namely the Ruhr, remains severed from us. We are, despite these impossible payments, to restore our credit, stabilize our currency and balance our budget, while France knowingly and openly has done everything to offset Germany's entire economic and political organization. Germany must collapse, but she must pay, and if she does not pay as a result of her collapse she is to be accused of fresh failures and is to be exposed to new persecutions until destruction is complete."

Laddie Boy Says Last Farewell to His Master

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Laddie Boy said his last good-bye to his master in the east room of the white house this morning and there may be some hard hearts who will say that a dog couldn't know but it seemed to those about him as if he did. Mrs. Harding, who loves Laddie Boy no less than her husband did, the attendant in whose special charge the pup has been to take him in the east room for a moment because he seemed to want to go. Alertly he sniffed the heavy air, freighted with the fragrance of the funeral blooms, walked solemnly around the bier lying under the great crystal chandelier, and poked his nose in the flowers as if looking for the master he knew was there but couldn't see and then turned his brown eyes on the white house attaches with an inquiring look which was too much for them to endure without their own eyes turning misty.

Laddie Boy knew his master was back in the house, but he seemed to sense that for some reason he couldn't find him, and like a dog he concluded there was nothing to do but go back to his favorite spot and wait, faithful to the end.

THUMB PRINT MAY LEAD TO MURDERER OF DR. EDDINGTON

(By the Associated Press)
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 8.—A thumb print on a five dollar bill that was taken from the trouser pocket of Dr. L. G. Eddington, Mairfield, Iowa, following the finding of his body near Goodman, Wis., on the Soo Line railroad track is a new clue upon which police are trying to solve the mystery connected with the physician's supposed slaying. While an open verdict was returned by a coroner's jury concerning the death, said that the physician was intoxicated when killed.

Dr. Luther Lorraine, Chicago, member of the MuSigma Nu Medical Fraternity, the organization to which Dr. Eddington belonged went to Goodman, Wis., to make an investigation. "I have learned that Dr. Eddington took a few drinks while waiting for a train at Pembine," he said, "but I also learned that he was able to take care of himself."

Dr. Eddington is reported as having been refused a ride on a train he tried to take but that a suitcase belonging to him was found stuffed under the vestibule covering.

Dr. Eddington is said to have had $1300 in bonds in a suit case and the bonds have not been found. Currency amounting to $550 which he is said to have had also is missing.

District Attorney A. F. Murphy of Marinette county is convinced that the two men held are not implicated in the alleged crime.

SINGLE WREATH OF FLOWERS ACROSS HARDING'S CASKET

Was Offering of Anguished Heart to its Lost Companion

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—A single wreath of flowers, showing scarlet, yellow and white, lay across the casket of President Harding as it rested in solemn dignity today in the capitol. It was the offering of an anguished heart to its lost companion.

But, altho its bloom and fragrance are gone, still another floral tribute was there also placed there by the hands of Mrs. Harding. It was the design she arranged before the dead president began his long journey from San Francisco towards home. The crossing of the continent withered the flowers, but the president's widow would not remove them, simply laying upon them clusters of fresh blossoms.

Around the gray metal casket were tilted the floral tributes of President Coolidge, cabinet officers and the justices of the supreme court. A part of the great number of emblems were used to demark the line of the passing thousands so that those who walked by the open casket to view the calm face of their dead leader entered and made their way out thru walls of flowers.

The touched by the waxen gray of death, the powerful face, familiar to all in picture or person was placid, and there was no sign in it expect that of peace.

MAKES BEQUEST OF $400,000 TO CHAIR PSYCHIC PHENOMENA

Brother of Late Leland Stanford Makes Gift to School

(By the Associated Press)
STANFORD, University, Calif., Aug. 8.—The chair of psychic phenomena at Stanford University today received a bequest of $400,000 from the estate of Thomas Welton Stanford of Melbourne, Australia—a brother of the late Leland Stanford, founder of the University. The fund will be used in an effort to establish fully whether there is any merit in the contention of many persons that the living can communicate with the dead.

Before his death Thomas Welton Stanford delved deeply into the subject and professed implicit belief in the power of communication between the living and the dead. It was because of his great belief in spiritualism and his desire that its teachings should be recognized by scientists that the Stanford University chair of psychic phenomena was established.

INTENSE HEAT CAUSE OF 170 PROSTRATIONS

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Intense heat caused 170 prostrations today among those in the Harding funeral procession from the white house to the capitol in the lines of spectators along the route and the crowd awaiting entrance to the rotunda to view the bier.

First aid stations and hospitals, reporting that this number was given treatment, said none was in serious condition. The heat was particularly oppressive due to the high humidity.

BODY OF HARDING IS NOW ENROUTE TO OLD HOME AT MARION

Thousands Gather as Train Leaves Washington Where Highest Honors of Nation Were Paid to Dead Chief—Capital Treasures Memories of Warren G. Harding

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Warren Harding left Washington tonight, forever. His short eventful moment of power and heavy care was ended. His eternity of rest begun. Yesterday, the flooding tide of leadership bore him eastward to take up the challenge of leadership the millions of his countrymen had thrown to him. Today, the tide ebbed westward again under the setting sun. The singing rails bore him back to the quiet town in Ohio whence he came.

Grim voiced, distant guns spoke the nation's farewell as the funeral train drew out. A legion of armed men stood with rifles and sabres at salute. Great folk and small, in their thousands, stood silent and with heads bared in the fading light of evening and the dead president was gone.

But behind him, there, in the halls of the senate where long he moved in his happiest hours in the capitol, or again, here in the bleak lonely rooms of the deserted white house where he passed heavy days and nights of care that brought him to his untimely death, lingered brave memories such as he would be proud tonight to know filled men's minds as they thought of him.

There were memories of Harding, the president; memories that dealt with his devotion to duty, his loyalty to those who worked with him, his patient just use of his great power, his high courage in office; his utter love of country. But there were other memories of Harding, the man; Harding the kindly, thoughtful, joyous comrade, the friend of all who treasured friendship worthily, Harding's great heart and modest simplicity that no pride of place could change.

And these were the memories treasured closest tonight in the sorrowing hearts in Washington. Harding was gone from Washington, splendidly, fittingly gone as went the day that for him had brimmed with honors as brimmed the cup of life, heavy with its draft of greatness scarce tasted at his lips, when death so ruthlessly struck it aside.

Gone from the place and the comrades of his greatness, gone with his loving care of a brave woman to shelter him on his last journey.

Sympathy for Widow.
For in the whole day of pomp and circumstance that men have made to surround the great, there was no thing more touching than the dauntless courage wherewith Mrs. Harding carried thru the public ordeal. As her black-gowned figure passed out of the crowded stone circle where the funeral rites were held, every glance was for her, every sympathy. There was admiration that brought the clutch of choked-back sobs to many a throat as the brave, simple dignity of her carriage that still could not hide the depths of her woe. There were eyes turned misty then that had shed no tear before.

It ran in men's minds that this brave little woman had waited long to be alone with her dead, had even because of the greatness of his place, found courage to lean him there to the nation whose service had demanded his life that he might be rendered the honors of men due to him. Even she had crushed back her tears and came thus to pray in public over the bier, when her heart cried out to be alone with her dead and for the surcease of unchecked tears and the intimate things of sorrow.

But it could not be. Dead, the nation claimed him as living it swept him to his high office. And there was no mark of honor denied thru the long hours that the pages of history could recall for his acclaim.

He was carried from the White House which had exalted his sleep for those last brief hours, with all the military pomp, glory that dead residents or such heroes as the unknown soldier alone may know. Not in the memory of living man has such high honor been paid save at the death of such martyrs to the cause of freedom symbolized and glorified in the flag. From the dim East Room and its heavy scented flowers, the dead president was borne out into a day vivid with sunshine.

The clear pealing of a trumpet sent long lines of steel flashing to salute, a moment later it marshalled the ordered array of soldiers, sailors and marines down the long avenue to the capitol with John Pershing riding ahead, and his heavy scented flowers, the dead president was borne out into a day vivid with sunshine.

Band by band, the old hymns of courage and devotion rose in the still air as they passed. Rank (Continued on Page Four.)

MARION AWAITING RETURN OF MOST FAMOUS CITIZEN

Tolling of Bells Will Greet Former Chief Executive

(By the Associated Press)
MARION, Ohio, Aug. 8.—Warren G. Harding is on his last journey home, and Marion, shrouded in mourning peacefully awaits his coming. Unlike his arrival and his departures in the distant past when little notice was taken of his movements, and also unlike the near past when they were announced with rejoicing, tomorrow's arrival will be heralded by tolling of the bells.

When the nation's funeral train bearing the late President in its flag-draped coffin crosses the Marion county line and begins to traverse the country where he laid the foundation for a character which made him the nation's beloved, Marion's bells will begin to toll. They will continue to toll at thirty-second intervals, till the body has been set at rest in the home of his father.

As soon as the body is placed in the Harding home, the utmost privacy will be maintained there for a few hours.

It will be a sacred hour in that home in East Center street for there sits the aged father bowed in grief, who for seven days will have been waiting the time, counting the hours and the minutes, when he again might be with his son, even tho the reception he not spoken greeting, no returned smile, no gentle handclasp.

After this silent communion the doors will be thrown open from two to ten P. M., and friends of the dead president will be permitted to pass by his bier. They also will be allowed to pass again Friday from 9 A. M. to 1 P. M., before the body is removed to the cemetery for brief funeral services.

MURRAYVILLE PICNIC LARGELY ATTENDED

Everything Was Sold During the Evening—O'Connell's Won Baseball Game

The picnic and burgoon given Wednesday by the members of the Murrayville Catholic church was a complete success in every detail. Immense crowds thronged the grounds all day beginning at about 10 o'clock in the morning and continuing to pour in until late last night. To anyone viewing the amount of good things provided, it would seem that it would be an impossibility to dispose of all of it but the report was made last night that everything had been sold.

The first call for dinner was sounded at 11 o'clock and 200 were fed at noon. After that it was a continuous procession to the tables the rest of the day and evening. During the day the hungry crowd consumed 500 gallons of burgoon soup, 500 fried chickens, 325 pies, and 80 cakes, to say nothing of all other kinds of extra "trimmings."

During the afternoon different kinds of contests were staged and the affair moved merrily thruout the day with no accidents to mar their pleasure. The program as previously published was carried out and every one present reported an unusually fine time.

Baseball Game

The baseball game between Murrayville and the O'Connell team of Springfield was an exciting one, ending in favor of the O'Connells by a score of 3 to 2. Big John Wright pitched a great game for Murrayville and held the visitors safe until the seventh. In that inning with the aid of errors the visiting team put over two runs, winning the game. Murrayville had been leading by a score of 2 to 1.

The game was called in the seventh by agreement else the result might have been different. Springfield had a great lineup for the affray, including Seth Dove the old war horse. The lineup: Murrayville—Massinkoff, lf; Wright, 1b; Ruble, 2b; Fanning, ss; DeFrates, 3b; Lonergan, c; J. W. Wright, p; Wild, rf; Kitchner, cf. O'Connells—Dove, p; Ford, c; McHugh, 1b; Rossiter, 2b; Dorgan, ss; Moakley, 3b; Richards, lf; Lascody, cf; Olive, rf. Frank Smith, manager of the Indians was the umpire and gave satisfaction.

CONTRACT FOR SOUTH HARD ROAD NOT LET

It is expected that the contract for the new hard road south of Jacksonville would be let along with a great many others on August 29th, but the county commissioners have now been informed that this contract will be let on September 13th.

The commissioners feel that this new arrangement will be just as satisfactory, inasmuch as only the preliminary work can be done this fall. It is the intention to raise the Sandy Creek bottom several feet and to also complete the bridge at that point before the road building is begun.

Miss Martha Fanning is visiting Franklin.

I Offer You

The liquid cleanser France gave me

By Edna Wallace Hopper

This is to women who wish to know how I kept my wonderful complexion to my grand old age. I look, as millions know, like a girl of 19, after 32 years as a stage star.

One premier help is a liquid cleanser, which I found years ago in France. Lucie Lantelme, the famous Parisian beauty, gave me the formula. Some French scientist gave it to her. It contains no animal, no vegetable fat. So it does not grow hair on the face. It cannot assimilate in any way with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, the pores. And all the grime, all that clogs the skin goes with it.

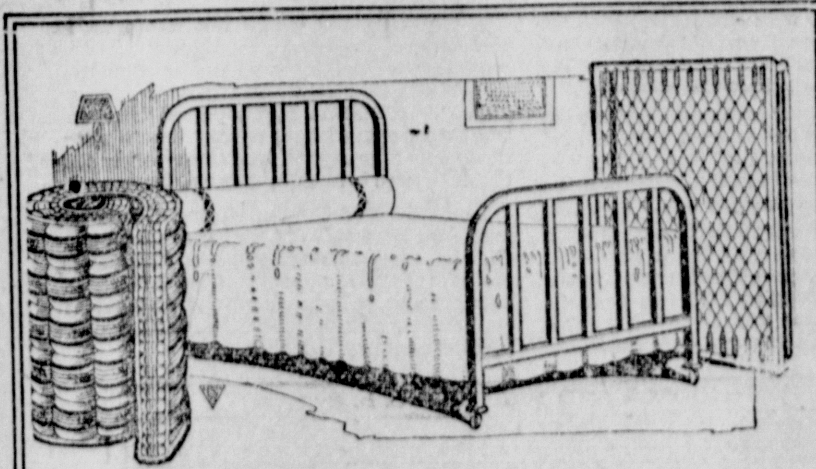

Called Facial Youth I call this cleanser my Facial Youth in offering it to others. I apply it right and morning, and whenever else my face needs cleaning. Then I wipe it off, and the pores are clean. It also softens and whitens the skin. It acts as a wrinkle combatant. It is so efficient that all my stage friends use it in removing make-up. And that is a major test. I care for my body as well as my face. So I cover myself with Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth is now supplied by all druggists, all toilet counters, at 75c per bottle. Also my Youth Cream—my fruit cold cream. Also my White Youth Clay. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my heavy, lustrous hair. My Beauty Book comes with each. Go try this liquid cleanser, my Facial Youth. You will never return to other methods after you use it once. And my face shows what you may gain.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID HARDING'S MEMORY IN NATION'S CAPITOL

took her place and about her were grouped the others of the sorrowing family and close friends of the dead whose official duties did not call them to other posts in the funeral chamber.

There was some delay as the high officers of the guard of honor found their places and as the group of honorary pall-bearers, each a noted figure in the nation's life, came in followed by the diplomatic corps. The diplomats were in the formal ceremonial dress. Each nation prescribes for the occasions of state. The scarlet or gray or blue of their state uniforms lent a new touch of color to the scene.

Then came President Coolidge with bowed head. He stepped to his place with eyes misty with sadness. Then came Chief Justice Taft in his black robes and leading his comrades of the supreme court; then the cabinet officers, senators and representatives and General Pershing with his staff.

As the confusion of the seating ended, Dr. A. Freeman Anderson, assistant pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, where President Harding worshipped, stepped forward with raised hands to open the religious service.

His words were audible in the intertwining echoes of the huge chamber hardly a dozen feet away. Only the slow tones of his voice reached the ears of the hundreds grouped about until he began the Lord's prayer. Lip by lip, it was taken up and a reverent murmur rose to the vaulted roof.

Sing Favorite Hymn

Over against the side wall toward the senate, the little group of singers stood beneath the heroic head of Lincoln, sculptured from his death mask. Their voices rose softly in the hymn Mr. Harding like the martyred McKinley, most loved. "Lead Kindly Light, Amid Encircling Gloom" they sang and the blending of male voices rose and fell under the high arched roof like the tones of an organ, played softly. The sang without accompanying instruments. There was a stifled cough here and there as a sob was choked back.

As they sang, a broad golden shaft of light swept in front of the open east doors to bathe the casket and the mourners about in soft, reflected light. It lighted up the tanned, solemn young faces of the motionless sentries and brought out the glowing colors of the flag that covered the casket, now almost hidden beneath a mass of blooms.

Attorney General Daugherty with head bowed to his hand shielding his eyes sat motionless. Senator Lodge's eyes caught the gleam of light that came from a single opening above the row of windows at the base of the dome. He sat looking up at it as the chiming voice died away in a last, long-held chord of the hymn.

Again Dr. Anderson raised his voice in quiet reading of the scriptures—the 23rd Psalm with its promise and comfort, Revelation 22nd chapter, first to fifth verses, the favorite passage of the dead president. He read too, Micah, 6th chapter, 8th verse. It was on this verse that President Harding's lips fell out beyond their place in his inauguration when he kissed the open Bible as token of the high pledge he gave.

"He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God."

Surely there was prophecy in that moment two years ago, Dr. James S. Montgomery, chaplain of the house, took his place at the bier to plead in low voiced prayer that men should profit from the example of high service this dead president had given. His words, spoken in the center of the chamber, where the many voices meet and blend, carried only a little way; but many of those about were in silent prayer for the dead.

Again the singers' voices rose softly in the hymn that has soothed the grief of men all over the world.

"Nearer My God to Thee" they sang "E'en though it be a cross that raiseth me."

Dr. Anderson closed the service, the audience standing, with the benediction and the simple religious ceremony that befits the death of a kindly, simple, upright gentleman was ended.

BODY OF HARDING IS NOW ENROUTE TO OLD HOME AT MARION

by rank, in khaki, blue or white the sturdy youngsters who served the flag moved by, their sabres and bayonets glittering in the sun, their dull hued guns rolling slowly. A tolling church bell, swinging with the solemn, slow stroke, pierced the harmonies of the bands at intervals, distant minute guns from Fort Myer, across the Potomac, thudded faintly over the miles.

But along the way banked motionless and in silence were thousands upon thousands who had stood there waiting since daylight to add to the great tribute to the dead. The hushed reverence of these told more strikingly the sorrowful nature of the past than even the crepe that streamed from the passing standard, or the mourning bands on uniform jackets or the knots of black at the sword hilts of the officers.

Down thru the long valley of sorrow the cortège wound to the capitol with that other, living president up-thrust overnight to high responsibility, first among the nation's mourners after the family of the dead.

President Coolidge in Line.

President Coolidge was there both to symbolize the sorrow of the nation and to show his own great personal grief for his dead chief. And behind him rode two other men who have known the hard service of that high office, one of whom was stricken almost as was he to whom such honor was paid today.

Chief Justice Taft followed President Coolidge, then Woodrow Wilson, coming from his retirement once again for a brief moment to give reverent homage beside the bier of an honor laden American.

All the great folks of Washington followed afterward. Among them was the diplomats who speak here with the voices of their kings or governments to testify that human sympathy to a nation in grief knows no barrier of sea or land.

There also were the great judges and the sorrowful cabinet officers, the senators and the members of the house called back from their varied occupations for this sad moment. Again black after black stretched the ranks of all the civilian organizations of Washington out in full array; the men who head the bureaus and divisions of the great government departments, the army and navy and marine corps officers serving here and walking now in ordered lines their tunic sleeves wound with mournful black.

The enthusiasm with which the new 1924 model Studebaker cars have been received locally is an indication of the reception they have enjoyed throughout the country.

No wonder. They are emphatically the most compelling values Studebaker ever offered and the public knows that Studebaker has been a consistent leader, year after year, in the amount of intrinsic value per dollar invested.

Ainsmith Clouts Homer for Winning Run in the Eighth—Haines Pitches Effectively in Closing Innings

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 8.—St. Louis defeated New York 4 to 3 in the first of a five game series here today. Ainsmith's four bagger in the eighth gave the locals the winning tally. Just before Ainsmith clouted the circuit drive, Myers' sacrifice, scoring Bottomley, tied the score. In the last five innings Haines allowed but two hits.

Galloway was the star of the game with a double and single and a wonderful one hand stop of a fly ball of second. Helmsch, who relieved Harris pitched fine ball but his support allowed two runs to be made against him.

In the second game after Carey slammed out a circuit clout in the third inning the locals got their hits at the time the visitors made misplays and had the game won 5 to 0 until the ninth when the Dodgers scored twice.

Market Report

STOCK PRICES IN SHARP RECESSION

FINANCIAL	Shares
Total stock sales	411,300
Shares	604
Twenty industrials averaged	$8.63; net loss .32.
High 1923 — 105.38; low	$6.91
Twenty railroads averaged	$7.86; net loss .50.
High 1923 — 90.62; low	$6.78.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Heavy selling of leather and shipping shares and a few specialties because of poor trade conditions led to a withdrawal of buying support by short interests in today's stock market and brought about an early interval of moderate strength. In view of the absence of a number of large traders because of the 90 minute suspension of business today and the Friday holiday, price changes generally were not regarded as very conclusive.

Considerable short selling developed in the leather group with the result that Central Leather common and preferred and American Hyde and Leather preferred dropped to new low records for the year. The net loss in each case being about 2 1/2 points.

United States Steel, Pan American "B," American Locomotive, Studebaker and American Can and Anaconda also closed 1 to 2 points below yesterday's final prices. Rails offered better resistance to selling pressure, the average of leading stocks showing a net loss of about half a point on the day.

The government crop report issued after the close of the market yesterday was interpreted by the grain trade as bullish but it received only a moderate response in the commodity markets.

French and Belgian francs and German marks established new low records for the year.

United States government bonds held relatively steady and foreign issues improved slightly, the Holland-America 6's advancing one.

CASH WHEAT MARKET

CLOSED UNCHANGED

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Cash wheat closed unchanged to 1/4c lower. Premiums and discounts were unchanged to 1/4c lower for winter grades and unchanged on spring. Demand for cash wheat was good on contract grades but other grades were weaker; domestic shipping sales here were 15,000 bushels. No export business was reported at the seaboard. Charts were made for 50,000 bushels to Buffalo.

Corn was in good demand and premiums were unchanged to 1/4c better, the latter for mixed and white grades. Domestic shipping sales here were 320,000 bushels.

Vessel room was chartered for 50,000 bushels to Buffalo.

Oats closed steady and the demand was fair. Premiums were unchanged to 1/4c lower. Domestic shipping sales here were 245,000 bushels.

LIVED IN EMPEROR'S LUXURIOUS SUITE

Mrs. Harry Stiff of Chicago, a niece of Mrs. J. Herman of this city, has but recently returned from an extended trip abroad. While in the fashionable German resort of Neubaden she, with a friend, Mrs. Harry Kingston, occupied an elegant apartment that had formerly been one of the holiday residences of the former Emperor William of Germany. The suite, which included several rooms was lavishly decorated and cost the ladies but 60 cents a day. In the matter of clothing the American ladies were fortunate, being able to get the most exquisite fancy voile dresses for one dollar each. Mrs. Stiff bought a silk crepe dress for $4.00 and a finely finished leather coat for $8.50. The two ladies brought fifty pairs of shoes back to this country with them, as they were able to get the best the market afforded for 50 cents a pair American money.
